

Betsey/Lindsey

(Defensively proving her progressive credentials to Lena and Kevin.)

"I just want to say, for the record, that some of our closest friends are Black. Seriously. Our child's pediatrician is a Black woman. I went to a historically diverse university, and I majored in women's studies. The last thing I want is to be seen as some gentrifying colonizer moving into a neighborhood we don't respect. We love this community. We love the diversity. That is literally the entire reason we chose to buy here instead of moving to some boring, homogenous suburb!"